Without a travel software and service partner

With a travel software and service partner

Planning

Scattershot bookings

Employees book on random websites, searching for great deals but faced with limited options.

Enormous choice

The world's widest choice of trip options is all in one centralized booking platform.

Off budget

Without a trip approval process, policy, and central booking site, you have no oversight of travel spend.

On budget

Pre-negotiated rates and trip approval software are in sync with your travel policy.

On trip

High risk

No centralized booking means no idea of travelers' locations, so it's hard to tell if their safety is at risk.

Risk management

You have tools that help you prevent and assess safety threats and communicate risk to travelers.

Missed meetings

Employees can't get to meetings when flights get cancelled and there's no backup rebooking system.

On-demand help

Automated system notifies travelers in advance of flight cancellations and helps them rebook the next flight.

Heavy wait times

Long flight delays leave travelers spending hours at the airport unhappy and unproductive.

24/7 service

Travelers can chat or call for travel assistance whenever they need help with trip plans.

After trip

Sloppy expense processes

Multiple credit cards and complex processing make it hard to track travel expenses.

Streamlined expensing

Everything from tracking to reconciling and reporting is easy and efficient.

Environmental pressures

Corporate sustainable goals persist yet you don't know how to begin to meet them.

Emission insights

With carbon emissions in easy view, you can book more sustainable trip options and report on progress made reducing emissions.
